This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at `http://books.google.com/`

Crescit sub pondere virtus. Virtue increaseth under oppression. e Denbigh, 7

Crom a boo. I will burn. The words Crom a boo were abolished by law in Ireland, as the name of Macgregor was legally annulled in Scotland. By an act (10th Henry VII. c. 20) for abolishing the words Crom a boo and Butler a boo, it is enacted, "That no person or persons, of whatsoever estate, condition, or degree, do take part with any lord or gentleman, or uphold variances or comparisons in word or deed, by using those words, Crom a boo, Butler a boo, or such-like words, or otherwise, contrary to the King's laws, his crown, dignity, and peace; but to call only on St. George, or the name of his sovereign Lord the King for the time being; and if any person do contrary, or offend in the premises, he may be taken and committed to ward, there to remain, without bail or mainprize, till they have made fine, after the discretion of the King's deputy of Ireland, and the King's council of the same for the time being." There was an association of the lords of the Pale, or district of only five counties, in which alone the English laws were predominant till the reign of Henry VIII. in order to prevent the Irish from marauding, and to suppress insurrections, &c. called the fraternity of St. George; and this is the allusion of this act of parliament. d Leinster, 45

ENGLAND, SCOTLAND, AND IRELAND.

DESCENT OF THE ROYAL FAMILY OF GREAT BRITAIN.

The illustrious House of Brunswick traces its origin to a very remote antiquity, in the several lines of Este, of the Guelphs, of Billing, and Witekind the Great; all of which became united in the person of Henry Leo.

The British Line may be traced in the following course of successions:

John, the second son of Henry II. was crowned in 1196, and died in 1216: he was succeeded by his son, Henry III. who died in 1272, and was followed by his son, Edward I. who died in 1307. At his death, Edward II. ascended the throne, and was succeeded by Edward III. whose eldest son, Edward the Black Prince, dying before his father in 1376, he was succeeded in 1377 by his grandson, Richard II. who was deposed in 1399, and succeeded by his cousin, Henry IV. who died in 1412, when his son Henry V. ascended the throne, and died in 1422. That monarch was succeeded by his son Henry VI. who was deposed in 1461, when Edward IV. (descended from the third son of Edward III.) mounted the throne, and died in 1483. The short usurpation of Richard III. was followed by the accession of Henry VII. descended from John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, fourth son of Edward III.: on his marriage with Elizabeth, daughter of Edward IV. the family was again united: Henry VII. dying in 1509, left three children, a son and two daughters, the youngest of whom married James IV. King of Scotland, who was, in 1513, succeeded in that kingdom by his son, James V. whose daughter, Mary, was mother of James VI. of Scotland, and the first of that name in England: his daughter, Elizabeth, married Frederick, King of Bohemia, by whom she had a daughter, Sophia, married to Ernestus, Elector of Hanover, the representative of the house of Brunswick, Hanover, Lunenburg, Wolfenbuttel, Zell, &c. by whom she had a son, George, who, according to the provisions made by parliament for the succession of the crown in the Protestant line, on the death of Queen Anne in 1714, succeeded the throne of Great Britain.

EDWARD-SMITH STANLEY, Earl of DERBY; Lord Stanley, Baron Stanley, of Latham; and a Baronet; Lord Lieutenant of Lancashire. Baron Sept. 1, 1752. Succeeded his uncle, Edward, the late Earl, Feb. 22, 1776. Married, June 23, 1774, Elizabeth, only daughter of James, sixth Duke of Hamilton and Brandon, by whom (who died March 14, 1797) he had issue Edward, Lord Stanley, born April 21, 1775 (married, June 30, 1798, Charlotte-Margaret, second daughter of the Rev. Geoffery Hornby, and has issue); and Charlotte, born Oct. 17, 1776. His Lordship married, secondly, May 1, 1797, Miss Eliza Farren. His Lordship has issue several other children.

Thomas, first Earl of Derby, was first summoned to Parliament among the Barons of the realm, May 24, 1461; he married, first, Eleanor, daughter of Richard Nevill (nicknamed the King-maker) the bold Earl of Warwick. He was, 8 Edward IV. solicited by that Earl to put himself in arms against King Edward, which he refused. He was appointed Chief Justice of Chester, 2 Edward IV. and continued so till 1 Henry VII. when his son George, Lord Strange, was joined to him in the same commission. He married, secondly, Margaret, daughter and heir of John, Duke of Somerset, widow of Edmund Tudor, Earl of Richmond, and mother of Henry, Earl of Richmond, at that time competitor for the crown; and for the services rendered King Henry VII. at the battle of Bosworth, he was (Oct. 27, 1485) advanced to the dignity of an Earl: from whom descended James, the seventh Earl. He was taken prisoner at the fatal battle of Worcester, Sept. 3, 1651; and, contrary to the law of nations, was condemned to die, notwithstanding his just plea, "that he had quarter for life given him by one Captain Edge, who took him prisoner;" but this plea was over-ruled, and he was, Oct. 15, 1651, beheaded at Bolton, in Lancashire. He left a son Charles, who fell a sacrifice to the dastardly revenge of Oliver Cromwell, from whom he received a letter, offering him his own terms, if he would deliver up the Isle of Man; to which the Earl returned the following spirited answer:

"I received your letter with indignation; and with scorn I return you this answer, that I cannot but wonder whence you should gather any hopes from me, that I should (like you) prove treacherous to my Sovereign; since you cannot be insensible of my former actings in his late Majesty's service, from which principle of loyalty I am no way departed.

"I scorn your proffers; I disdain your favours; I abhor your treasons; and am so far from delivering this island to your advantage, that I will keep it to the utmost of my power to your destruction.

"Take this final answer, and forbear any further solicitations; for if you trouble me with any more messages upon this occasion, I will burn the paper and hang the bearer.

"This is the immutable resolution, and shall be the undoubted practice, of him who accounts it the chiefest glory to be

"His Majesty's

"Most loyal and obedient subject,

"Castle Town, "DERBY."

[illegible] July, 1649."

Sir Arthur Onslow married Mary, second daughter of Sir Thomas Foot, and by her had four sons; Richard, his heir; Foot, second son; Arthur and Henry, both of whom died unmarried. Foot died on May 11, 1710, having married Susanna, daughter of Thomas Anlaby, by whom he had issue, Arthur, Speaker of the House of Commons in the 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, and 11th Parliaments, viz. from 1727 to 1761. This illustrious person enjoyed this eminent station longer than any of his predecessors, and executed this most important trust with equal, if not with superior abilities, to any of those who had gone before him; and the House of Commons, in their unanimous resolutions of March 18, 1761, gave the most honourable testimonies of his conduct, viz. "That the thanks of the House be given to Mr. Speaker, for his constant and unwearied attendance in the Chair during the course of about thirty-three years, in five successive Parliaments; for his unshaken integrity and steady impartiality there, and for the indefatigable pains he has, with uncommon abilities, constantly taken to promote the real interest of his King and country, to maintain the honour and dignity of Parliament, and to preserve the inviolable rights and privileges of the Commons of Great Britain." Upon which Mr. Speaker addressed the House, and in conclusion said: "And now, Sirs, I am to take my last leave of you; it is, I confess, with regret, because the being within these walls has ever been the chief pleasure of my life; but my advanced age and infirmities, and some other reasons, call for retirement and obscurity; there I shall spend the remainder of my days, and shall only have power to hope and to pray, and my hopes and prayers, my daily prayers, will be for the continuance of the constitution in general, and that the freedom, the dignity, and authority of this House, may be perpetual." In return, the House immediately resolved, nemine contradicente, "1st, That the thanks of the House be given to Mr. Speaker for what he has said to the House; and that the same be printed in the votes of this day: 2d, That an humble address be presented to his Majesty, humbly to beseech his Majesty, that he will be graciously pleased to confer some signal mark of his royal favour upon the Right Honourable Arthur Onslow, Esq. Speaker of this House, for his great and eminent services performed to his country for thirty-three years and upwards, during which he has, with distinguished ability and integrity, presided in the chair of this House: and to assure his Majesty, that whatever expense his Majesty shall think proper to be incurred upon that account, this House will make good the same to his Majesty."

The address having been next day presented, the King was pleased to answer, "That he had the justest sense of the long services and great merit of Mr. Onslow, present Speaker of the House of Commons; and had already taken the same into consideration, and that he would do therein what should appear to be most proper, agreeable to the desire of his most faithful Commons."

Accordingly his Majesty, by letters patent, dated April 20, 1761, was pleased to grant, out of his civil-list revenue, a pension of 3000*l.* per annum, to the said Right Hon. Arthur Onslow, Esq. late Speaker of the House of Commons, for his life, and the life of George Onslow, Esq. (now Earl of Onslow), his son, and the survivor of them. Likewise, at a Court of Common Council held at Guildhall, May 5, 1761, it was unanimously resolved, "That the freedom of this City be presented in a gold box, of 100*l.* value, by the Chamberlain of the City, to the Right Hon. Arthur Onslow, Esq. Speaker of the House of Commons in five successive parliaments, as a grateful and lasting testimony of the respectful love and veneration which the citizens of London entertain for his person and distinguished virtue; for the many eminent qualifications he displayed, the unwearied and disinterested labours he bestowed, and the impartial and judicious conduct he maintained in the execution of that arduous and important office, during a course of thirty-three years; and for that exemplary zeal, which, upon all proper occasions, he exerted with so much dignity and success, in support of the rights and privileges, and constitutional independence of the Commons of Great Britain."

Adam Duncan, father of the present Viscount, born in July 1731, died in 1805, and entered early into the royal navy, was advanced to the rank of an Admiral of the Blue, having on various occasions greatly distinguished himself, particularly under the late Viscount Keppel, and in the memorable and splendid action with the Dutch fleet, commanded by De Winter, off Camperdown; for which spirited conduct he was advanced to the dignity of the Peerage, by the title of Viscount Duncan of Camperdown, and Baron Duncan of Lundie, in Perthshire. His Lordship was honoured with the order of Merit of St. Alexander Newsky, by the Emperor of Russia, for the great attention shown to several Russian officers who served under his Lordship's command. Lord Duncan's uniform conduct was meritorious; as a Commander he was universally admired for courage and professional knowledge; and his humane regard for the interests of seamen, lives in the memory of those brave defenders of their country. Numberless are the instances of the greatness of his Lordship's mind, the whole of which cannot confer additional lustre on a character established on the basis of honour and benevolence. FRANCIS-AUGUSTUS ELLIOT, Lord HEATHFIELD, Baron Gibraltar. Born in 1750. Succeeded his father, George-Augustus, the late Lord, July 6, 1790. His Lordship is descended from M. Aliott, who came over with William the Conqueror, and held a distinguished rank in his army. There is a traditionary anecdote in his family, relating to an honourable distinction in their armorial bearings, which, as it corresponds with history, bears the semblance of truth.—When William set his foot on English land, he slipped and fell on the earth; he immediately sprang up again, and exclaimed, it was a happy omen, he had embraced the land of which he was to become the sovereign. Upon this Aliott drew his sword, and swore, by the honour of a soldier, that he would maintain, at the hazard of his blood, the right of his lord to the sovereignty of the earth he had embraced. On the event of the conquest, William added to the arms of Aliott, a baton gules to a bend or, on a field azure; an arm and sword as a crest; with the motto, Per ensem, per ignem, fortiter et serte. From the same ancestor descended the families of Eliot of Port Eliot, now

GEORGE-FULKE LYTTELTON, Lord LYTTELTON, Baron of Frankley, in Worcestershire, Baron Westcote, of Balamore. Born Oct. 27, 1763. Succeeded his father, William-Henry, the late Lord, Sept. 14, 1808.

This family appears to have been of very ancient standing and rank at South Lyttelton and Frankley, in Worcestershire. In the reign of Henry III. in 1235, Thomas de Lyttelton married Emma de Frankley, an heiress and lady of the manor; and his grandson, Thomas de Lyttelton, in the 9th of Edward II. was chosen knight of the shire for the county of Worcester; from whom descended John Lyttelton, who was involved in the measures of the Earl of Essex, for which he was tried, and condemned for high treason, Feb. 20, 1600-1; but died in prison, July 25, 1601, aged 39. Sir Walter Raleigh, at that time in great favour and power at court, was remarkably warm in prosecuting the Earl of Essex and his adherents. A large sum of money, privately paid to him by Mr. Lyttelton, and others, so far indeed operated upon him, that he saved their lives, but not their estates. The following excellent letter, written from the dungeon in Newgate to Sir Walter, shows the greatness of Lyttelton's spirit, and deserved far better at the hands of Raleigh: "Sir, it is not worthye the virtue and honour you professe, to persecute persons fallen into misfortunes: if heretofore you have borne me causeless displeasure, now of all others is the time least seasonable to show it. Remember, Sir, what it is to be truly noble, and how it agreeth not with generous hearts to delight to trample on dejected fortunes. It is now in your power to do me good or ill offices: if you do me good, you shall give me cause to be thankful. There is already between your son and me one tye in blood and nature; I could be contente you did now double the knot with offices of love and friendship. To begge your favour in this state I stand, were too much baseness; to refuse it, were arrogancy and indiscretion; but to require you to do me no harm, is but justice, and that one gentleman of right oweth to another. What construction you will make of this, or what is nowe meete to be don, I must refer to your own judgment; and so ende."

Sir John Clavering, K. B. by whom he has issue, William-John, born Oct. 13, 1786; and other children.

This family is said to be descended from the ancient Thanes of Lennox; but took the name of Napier, from the following event:

One of the ancient Earls of Lennox had three sons: the eldest succeeded him in the earldom; the second was named Donald, and the third Gilchrist. The then King of Scots being engaged in war, and having convocated his subjects to battle, the Earl of Lennox was called on, amongst others, to send such force as he could collect to the king's assistance; which he accordingly did, keeping his eldest son with him at home, but putting his men under the command of his two younger sons. The battle went hard with the Scots, who were not only forced to lose ground, but were actually running away, when Donald snatched his father's standard from the leaver, charged the enemy with the Lennox, changed the fortune of the day, and obtained a victory. After the battle, as the custom was, every one reported his acts, when the king said, "We heard all done valiantly; but there is one amongst you who hath our Pier" (that is, no equal); and calling Donald to him, commanded him to change his name from Lennox to Napier, and bestowed upon him the lands of Gosford, and lands in Fife, as a reward for his services.

John Napier, "to whom," says Mr. Hume, "the title of Great Man is more justly due than to any other whom his country ever produced, was the inventor of the Logarithms, and Rabdologice, commonly called 'Napier's Bones.'" He was, likewise, author of a treatise on the Revelation of St. John. These works will remain lasting monuments of his sublime judgment, knowledge, and penetration.
